Open Source Contributions

○ ANALYSE (Add-on of learNing AnaLYtics Support for open Edx)
  - ANALYSE is learning analytics tool developed for Open edX. It extends its functionality with 12 new visualizations.
  - ANALYSE has received a lot of attention from different institutions, it was presented at the Open edX conference, received several wards and it was open sourced for the community (GitHub code link, video example)
  - Several publications are based on ANALYSE results (e.g. J6, J7, W5, C4, C8, C10)
○ ALAS-KA (Add-on of the Learning Analytics Support for the Khan Academy)
  - ALAS-KA is a plug in for Khan Academy that incorporates 21 new visualizations that are accesible by teachers and students.
  - This tool has been open sourced (GitHub code link, video example) and has received interest from many institutions.

- ALAS-KA was succesfully tested in educational experiences at Universidad Carlos III of Madrid.
- A number of publications are based on its implementation and deployment (e.g. J1, B2, C1, C2, C3)
○ I developed an algorithm as part of publication [C13] to detect close submitters in online environments (i.e. users that tend to submit very close in time over a course due to potential academic dishonesty). This can help multiple account cheating and authorized collaborations (passing answers to other peers) in online environments. The algorithm is open source and available in this GitHub repo.
